SAFE HARBOR STATEMENTS

Forward Looking Statements

Certain statements in this presentation constitute "forward-looking statements" within the meaning of the federal securities laws. Forward-looking statements are statements that relate to management's expectations or beliefs, future plans and strategies, future financial performance and similar expressions concerning matters that are not historical facts. In some cases, forward-looking statements can be identified by the use of forward-looking terminology such as "may," "will," "should," "expects," "intends," "plans," "anticipates," "believes," "estimates," "predicts," or "potential." Such forward-looking statements reflect current views with respect to the matters referred to and are based on certain assumptions and involve known and unknown risks, uncertainties and other important factors, many of which are beyond the Company's control, that could cause the actual results, performance, or achievements of the Company to differ materially from any future results, performance, or achievement implied by such forward-looking statements.

While forward-looking statements reflect the Company's good faith beliefs, assumptions and expectations, they are not guarantees of future performance. Unknown or unpredictable factors could have material adverse effects on our business, financial condition, liquidity, results of operations and prospects. Except as required under the federal securities laws and the rules and regulations of the SEC, the Company does not undertake any obligation to release publicly any revisions to the forward-looking statements to reflect events or circumstances after the date of this presentation or to reflect the occurrence of unanticipated events. For a further discussion of factors that could cause the Company's future results to differ materially from any forward-looking statements, see the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2022 and the Company's other filings with the SEC, including, in particular, the section entitled "Risk Factors" contained therein. In light of these risks, uncertainties, assumptions and factors, there can be no assurance that the results and events contemplated by the forward-looking statements contained in this presentation will, in fact, transpire. Moreover, because the Company operates in a very competitive and rapidly changing environment, new risks are likely to emerge from time to time. Given these risks and uncertainties, potential investors are cautioned not to place undue reliance on these forward-looking statements as a prediction of future results.

Unless otherwise noted in this presentation, all financial data is for the quarter and year ended June 30, 2023, and all portfolio data is as of June 30, 2023.

Non-GAAP Financial Measures

This presentation includes non-GAAP financial measures Funds From Operations ("FFO") and Adjusted Funds From Operations ("AFFO"), which the Company uses as supplemental measures of its performance. Please refer to the Definitions and Reconciliations section of this presentation for additional information and complete reconciliations between each of these non-GAAP financial measures and the most directly comparable GAAP financial measure.

The Company believes that FFO and AFFO are helpful to investors in measuring its performance because both FFO and AFFO exclude various items included in GAAP net earnings that do not relate to, or are not indicative of, the Company's core operating performance. The Company pays particular attention to AFFO, a supplemental non-GAAP performance measure, as the Company believes it best represents its core operating performance and allows analysts and investors to better assess the Company's core operating performance. Further, the Company believes that AFFO is useful in comparing the sustainability of the Company's core operating performance with the sustainability of the core operating performance of other real estate companies.

DEFINITIONS AND RECONCILIATIONS

NON-GAAP FINANCIAL MEASURES

Funds from Operations (FFO) and Adjusted Funds from Operations (AFFO). In addition to measurements defined by accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America ("GAAP"), the Company also focuses on Funds From Operations ("FFO") and Adjusted Funds From Operations ("AFFO") to measure its performance.

FFO and AFFO are generally considered by analysts and investors to be appropriate supplemental non-GAAP measures of the performance of REITs. FFO and AFFO are not in accordance with, or a substitute for, measures prepared in accordance with GAAP. In addition, FFO and AFFO are not based on any comprehensive set of accounting rules or principles. Neither FFO nor AFFO represent cash generated from operating activities calculated in accordance with GAAP and therefore these measures should not be considered an alternative for GAAP net earnings or as a measure of liquidity. These measures should only be used to evaluate the Company's performance in conjunction with corresponding GAAP measures.

FFO is defined by the National Association of Real Estate Investment Trusts ("NAREIT") as GAAP net earnings before (i) depreciation and amortization of real estate assets, (ii) gains or losses on dispositions of real estate assets, (iii) impairment charges, and (iv) the cumulative effect of accounting changes.

The Company defines AFFO as FFO excluding (i) certain revenue recognition adjustments (defined below), (ii) certain environmental adjustments (defined below), (iii) stock-based compensation, (iv) amortization of debt issuance costs, and (v) other non-cash and/or unusual items that are not reflective of the Company's core operating performance.

Other REITs may use definitions of FFO and/or AFFO that are different than the Company's and, accordingly, may not be comparable.

The Company believes that FFO and AFFO are helpful to analysts and investors in measuring the Company's performance because both FFO and AFFO exclude various items included in GAAP net earnings that do not relate to, or are not indicative of, the core operating performance of the Company's portfolio. Specifically, FFO excludes items such as depreciation and amortizations of real estate assets, gains or losses on dispositions of real estate assets, and impairment charges. With respect to AFFO, the Company further excludes the impact of (i) deferred rental revenue (straight-line rent), the net amortization of above-market and below-market leases, adjustments recorded for the recognition of rental income from direct financing leases, and the amortization of deferred lease incentives (collectively, "Revenue Recognition Adjustments"), (ii) environmental accretion expenses, environmental litigation accruals, insurance reimbursements, legal settlements and judgments, and changes in environmental remediation estimates (collectively, "Environmental Adjustments"), (iii) stock-based compensation expense; (iv) amortization of debt issuance costs and (v) other items, which may include allowances for credit losses on notes and mortgages receivable and direct financing leases, losses on extinguishment of debt, retirement and severance costs, and other items that do not impact the Company's recurring cash flow and which are not indicative of its core operating performance.

The Company pays particular attention to AFFO which it believes provides the most useful depiction of the core operating performance of its portfolio. By providing AFFO, the Company believes it is presenting information that assists analysts and investors in their assessment of the Company's core operating performance, as well as the sustainability of its core operating performance with the sustainability of the core operating performance of other real estate companies. For a tabular reconciliation of FFO and AFFO to GAAP net earnings, see the table captioned "Reconciliation of Net Earnings to Funds From Operations and Adjusted Funds From Operations" included herein.

OTHER METRICS AND DEFINITIONS

Annual Base Rent (ABR). Contractually specified annual base rent in effect for all leases that have commenced as of the date noted, including those accounted for as direct financing leases.

Annual Rent Escalations. Weighted average contractual rent increases per year under the terms of in-place leases, weighted by ABR.

Automobility. Automobiles as the major means of transportation.

Credit Agreements. Refers to (i) the amended and restated credit agreement governing the Revolver and (ii) the amended and restated note purchase and guarantee agreements governing the Company's senior unsecured notes.
