Scott Doyle named Chief Operating Officer of Spire Inc.

Experienced leader brings more than 25 years of utility industry experience to Spire.

ST. LOUIS (January 9, 2024) - Spire Inc. (NYSE: SR) today announced that Scott Doyle has been named executive vice president and chief operating officer, effective January 15, 2024. In this role, Scott will have oversight of the company's gas utilities serving more than 1.7 million customers across Alabama, Missouri and Mississippi.

Scott brings more than 25 years of utility industry experience to Spire, most recently serving as executive vice president, utility operations at CenterPoint Energy in Houston, Texas. Prior to this role, Scott held numerous executive leadership positions of increasing responsibility in natural gas operations and regulatory and public affairs.

"We are extremely fortunate to have someone with Scott's background join our team at Spire. Scott and I have been associates in this industry for many years, and he will be a great leader as we continue to grow," said Steve Lindsey, Spire president and chief executive officer. "His deep experience in capital deployment, regulatory strategy and operational leadership across multiple functions supports our 10-year plan, as we focus on investing in our systems and driving continuous improvement throughout our operations."

Scott currently serves on the board of directors of Goodwill Industries of Houston and has previously held board positions with the American Gas Association, American Gas Foundation, Southern Gas Association, Central Indiana Corporate Partnership and the Association of Electric Companies of Texas.

In addition, he serves on the Engineering Advisory Council of Texas A&M University, where he earned a bachelor's degree in civil engineering.
