Moelis Continues to Expand its Global Technology Franchise with Appointment of Julien Oussadon as a Managing Director

London, April 17, 2025 – Moelis & Company (NYSE: MC), a leading global independent investment bank, today announced that it has appointed Julien Oussadon as a Managing Director in London, where he will focus on advising clients in the technology sector across Europe. Julien's hire further enhances Moelis's Global Technology franchise and underscores the Firm's continued investment in expanding its advisory platform across Europe and internationally.

Julien brings two decades of investment banking experience with a focus on application and vertical software, as well as fintech, data and information services. He has a track record of advising high-growth and established technology companies on a broad range of strategic transactions, including public and private M&A, IPOs, and growth financings. He joins Moelis from Harris Williams, where he was a Managing Director in the firm's Technology investment banking group leading its European practice. Prior to that, he worked at UBS in its TMT investment banking group. He began his career in the M&A group at Société Générale in Paris.

Jason Auerbach, Global Head of Technology Investment Banking at Moelis commented, "Technology continues to be one of the most dynamic and globally integrated sectors, and Julien's deep sector expertise and execution will be instrumental as we further scale our technology advisory capabilities across Europe to deliver exceptional outcomes for our clients."

Yorick van Slingelandt, Head of EMEA & APAC at Moelis, added, "Julien's appointment reflects our continued momentum in growing our European platform and commitment to investing in sectors that are strategically important to our clients. His arrival adds depth to our cross-border advisory capabilities and ability to provide top-level advice to technology companies across the region."
